Hurricane Anna is first name on storm list

Hurricane Anna will be the first on the scene this year, according to Charles Carter Jr., Hancock County's civil defense director.

Carter said yesterday that while such is not yet on the horizon, county residents can begin preparing for her arrival - should she decide to visit.

Other storm names designated for the 1976 season are: Belle, Candice, Dottie, Emmy, Frances, Gloria, Holly, Inga, Jill, Kay, Liliya, Maria, Nola, Orpha, Pamela, Ruth, Shirley, Trixie, Vilda, and Wynne.

Carter said the letters Q, U, X, Y, and Z are not utilized due to the scarcity of suitable names beginning with these letters.

"Hurricane advisories can help save your life," Carter said this week, adding, "even though it is up to the individual to help himself."

He said a hurricane watch means that a hurricane may threaten our area within the next 24 hours, whereas a hurricane warning means that a hurricane is expected to strike our area within 24 hours.

Carter said people should enter each hurricane season prepared. He cited such subjects as home repair and security equipment, including materials and tools, batteries and non-perishable foods as topics suitable for revision by home owners prior to a storm's arrival.

"Boats should be moored in a secure haven long before a storm arrives and should be left before wind and sea conditions make handling dangerous," Carter said.

The civil defense director suggested residents stock up on food, emergency cooking facilities, lights and flashlights, well in advance of need.

Drinking water should be stored in clean bathtubs, jugs, bottles, cooking utensils and the like, prior to a storm's arrival.

All outdoor objects that might become dangerous missiles should be lashed down or taken indoors. Carter cited such harmless looking things as garbage cans, tools, gardening equipment, toys, signs, porch furniture and the like as typical examples of the "harmless becoming the deadly" in time of high wind.

"Persons living on high ground should stay at home, providing their house is sturdy.

"Adversely, persons in low areas or in more fragile homes should move to shelter early.

"Beware of the eye of the hurricane. If the storm center passes overhead there will be a lull in the wind lasting from a few minutes to half an hour or more. Stay in a safe place unless urgent, emergency repairs are necessary. At the other side of the eye, the winds rise rapidly - in fact almost immediately - to hurricane force, and comes from the opposite direction.

"Mobile homes are extremely susceptible to high winds. Families living in one of these units should evacuate early.

"Above all - stay out of a disaster area unless you are qualified to help or are in need of emergency aid," Carter said.

Dollarwords pays weekly cash

Rules for Prize Dollarwords, a new puzzle game that will pay a cash prize of at least $25 per week, are announced in today's edition of the Echo.

The game is to be a regular feature in the Sunday edition of the Echo, with the first puzzle appearing this Sunday.

If no correct solution to the puzzle is received by the entry deadline, a weekly prize of $25 will be added to the award for the next week's contest.

Historical marker to be unveiled in Pass

A marker denoting the grave site of Frances Parke Lewis Butler, great granddaughter of Martha Washington and great niece of General George Washington, will be unveiled in ceremonies Wednesday at the Trinity Episcopal Church grounds in Pass Christian.

The marker, which will be unveiled at 10 a.m. by Richard Morgan of Gulfport, a direct descendant of John Washington (an uncle of General George Washington), is being donated by the Gulf Coast Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Pass Christian Bicentennial Commission.

The Pass Christian Garden Club and the DAR chapter assisted in the restoration also of the historic grave site following damage suffered in Hurricane Camille in 1969.

M. James Stevens, president of the Mississippi Coast Historical and Genealogical Society, will be the main speaker. E. Davis McCutcheon, president of the bicentennial commission, will be master of ceremonies.

Jimmy Cutrell, minister of music for First Baptist Church Gulfport, will be in charge of music.

The marker will be placed on U. S. Highway 90.

Mrs. Butler was born November 27, 1797 and died June 30, 1875 in Pass Christian where she had been a resident for many years.

Bourgeois assumes airport management

When he takes over July 22 as manager of Stennis International Airport, Col. Randolph C. Bourgeois plans to begin laying the groundwork for the Hancock County airfield "to become the major cargo handling and general aviation airport for the Gulf Coast and the greater New Orleans area."

Hired last week for the position by Global Associates, Bourgeois said his job will center on the development of new industry in the county, using the airport as a major drawing card. He said negotiations are now underway to hire a fixed base operator to handle aircraft sales and rentals, and maintain a Federal Aviation Administration approved flight training and ground school - two operations he considers "definite pluses" for the airport.

"The economic future of this county depends upon development of Port Bienville and Stennis International, and the economic base of the county will draw heavily on new business that is brought in," Bourgeois told the Echo this week.

He said the job represents a "tremendous challenge" quite different from his current position as Hancock County Youth Court Counselor "though that was a challenge too."

Bourgeois said success in his endeavor will depend on a "community effort" involving politicians, the Chamber of Commerce and citizens of the county.

"I'm not bashful," he said "and I will ask people for their advice."

Retired from active duty, Bourgeois has had 23 years aviation experience in the military in the management and operation of an Army airfield.

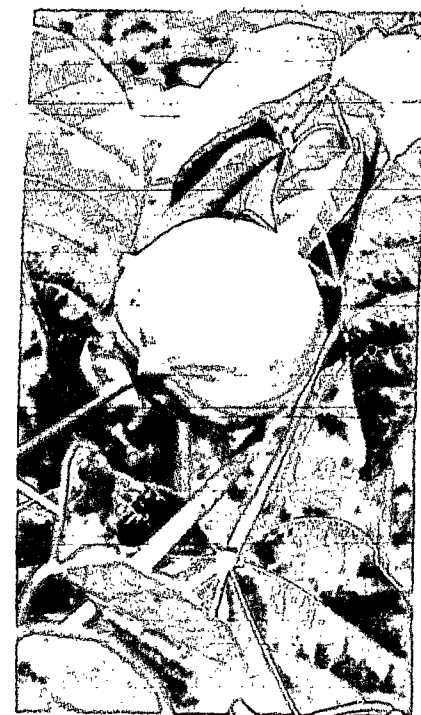

Grand jury empaneled

A 17-member grand jury was impaneled Monday by Circuit Judge Floyd J. Logan to consider approximately 20 to 25 criminal cases, some of which could be tried during July term of Hancock County Circuit Court.

The summer session began Monday and will continue for three weeks. All criminal cases will be heard during the final week.

Henry E. Steen, an Ingalls employee from Kiln, was elected foreman.

Others on the grand jury include Merlin J. "Shorty" Necaise, welder and county constable, Bay St. Louis; Linda Curet, housewife, Bay St. Louis; Phyllis A. Genin, government employee, Bay St. Louis; James M. Wimblish, retired, Bay St. Louis; Edward L. Schambach, mail carrier, Bay St. Louis; Donald F. de la Reguera, industrial mechanic, Bay St. Louis; Geneva M. Milam, construction company employee, Diamondhead; Henry Tops Jr., security policeman, Bay St. Louis; Elden R. Pennington, railroad clerk, Waveland; Santo V. Rosato, electrician, Bay St. Louis; J. Perkins, housewife, Waveland; Grace D. Hunter, house wife, Bay St. Louis; Gaynell Archer, cook, Bay St. Louis; Jane Vivian Stoufflet, housewife, Bay St. Louis; Michael R. Reeves, truck driver, Picayune; and Doris E. Bello, housewife, Pearlinton.

Tung nut

Now flourishing throughout northern part of county, tung nuts are utilized in paint making industry for their oil. At one time a major crop, commercial value has lessened due to changes in manufacturing processes. Last big tung nut orchards were wiped out in 1989 by Hurricane Camille. Point is nuts look delicious and good enough to eat, resembling pear or peach while on tree. As industry dies, so do memories that biting into a tung nut can make a person deathly ill. Newcomers to area and to those who may have forgotten, please warn the kids to leave these more deadly of nature's products strictly alone.

"Did not resign," former manager says

Former WPUP radio station manager Mrs. Matt Moore said this week she did not resign of her volition from her position as reported last week.

Mrs. Moore said she was fired by station owner Bill Garrett, owner of Bill Garrett Chevrolet in Sildell, La.

Garrett told the Echo last week that Mrs. Moore had resigned of her own accord because of personal reasons.

Mrs. Moore told the Echo Monday that she was forced out of the station manager's job by Garrett after her estranged husband sold his interest in the station.

Mrs. Moore said Garrett personally came to the station to fire her.

"He took the company car and told me I had 30 minutes to get my stuff and get out," Mrs. Moore said.

Mrs. Moore said she was concerned over the earlier story because she did not want anyone to think she voluntarily left the station.

Mrs. Moore said she was presently working for WGCM radio in Gulfport.

Three youths arrested for curfew violation

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Billy Carbonette said this week that three juveniles have been arrested for violating the 11 p.m. curfew.

The curfew, enforced two weeks ago in an effort to reduce the number of break-ins and incidents of vandalism, applies to all persons under the age of 18. Carbonette said those arrested were charged with violating a city ordinance.

Carbonette also said that youths are allowed 30 minutes following the end of a teenage function to get home. "If a dance lasts until 1 a.m., the child must be home by 1:30," he said. "It's up to the parents to know where their children are and to keep them at home."

Minor traffic accidents constituted the majority of complaints investigated by police during the period July 8-13. Two cases of vandalism and one burglary were reported. The theft was of a 12 foot aluminum fishing boat stolen from J. F. Morton, Blakemore Ave. Carbonette said he attributed the 11 p.m. curfew and use of the department's "Crime Stop" line as positive factors in reducing the number of break-ins.

Mayor Carver wants permit check

Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver this week instructed city policemen to make a more determined effort to check for building permits at new construction sites around the city. In a memo to police chief Billy Carbonette, Carver was critical of the job currently being performed by members of the police staff in checking for permits. Building permits are required by city ordinance. Carver said permits are needed not only for new construction, but also for repairs to existing structures. Money received from the issuance of building permits, Carver added, is used to offset the cost of the Building Inspection Department.

"Only one man" on the department takes the time and makes the effort to check for a permit when he sees a job being done," Carver said. Building permits are required by city ordinance. Carver said permits are needed not only for new construction, but also for repairs to existing structures. Money received from the issuance of building permits, Carver added, is used to offset the cost of the Building Inspection Department.

Health Board reports zero SLE cases

A report issued this week by the State Board of Health revealed that no cases of St. Louis encephalitis, which took 25 lives across the state last summer, have yet been confirmed.

Dr. Kenneth Powell said 48 encephalitis cases have been checked with 17 definitely not of the St. Louis strain. He said laboratory test results are yet to be received on the remaining cases.

At this time last year, the epidemic reached its peak with 229 cases reported. In addition to the 25 confirmed deaths, another 12 were suspected to have been caused by the St. Louis strain which is carried by mosquitoes.

Though there were no reported deaths in Hancock County, Kerry Crosby, director of the Gulf Coast Mosquito Control Commission, initiated an encephalitis surveillance program at the beginning of the year.

He said since February, over 3,000 wild birds have been bled in the three Coastal counties to determine evidence of recent encephalitis. "Positive SLE tests are running relatively low," he said, "with only two percent confirmed cases."

Crosby said the program will continue through August, with the bleeding of small mammals and migratory birds to begin in October.

He said the mosquito population in Hancock County is about average this summer, and spraying will continue as long as mosquitoes are in the area.

Though precautions have been taken all over the state, Dr. Powell said it was still too early to judge the possibility of an outbreak this year. "We hope we won't be faced with another epidemic, but the odds are against us," said Dr. Durwood Blakey, head of disease control.

State retail merchants to convene in Biloxi

The 20th Annual Convention of the Mississippi Retail Merchants Association will convene July 25 at the Broadwater Beach Hotel in Biloxi.

"Retailing: The Frontier of America" is this year's convention theme, in keeping with the Bicentennial and the 20th anniversary celebration of the Association.

Isadore Dattel, Ruleville, president of MRMA, said the program includes an impressive state of speakers for the business sessions, plus special activities and entertainment for the entire family.

Convention delegates will be entertained Monday morning during the President's Breakfast with a humorous talk by Joel O. Swanson, vice president and secretary of Delchamps, Inc., Mobile, Ala., whose topic is "Why Don't We Understand Each Other."

Swanson began his career with Delchamps in 1951 as advertising manager, and following other promotions, was named to his present position in 1972. He is active in both civic and business organizations, currently serving as president of the Mobile Mental Health Center and the Mobile Chapter of the Public Relations Council of Alabama.

The keynote address will be given Monday morning at the opening of the business session by Gov. Finch.

The Monday morning business session will also feature Martin J. Siegel, vice president, Salomon Brothers, New York, who will speak on "It's a Small World." In 1956 Mr. Siegel entered his father's business — Max Siegel Associates — a $6 million popular-priced children's dress manufacturer, which ultimately was sold to Bobby Brooks, Inc. where he was retained as executive vice president and chief operating officer of that division. He joined Salomon Brothers, a New York stock exchange investment banking firm, in 1973 and became a vice president in 1975.

Hon. Charles M. Deaton, Greenwood, member of the House of Representatives, will discuss the equalization of property assessments which is of vital interest and concern to Mississippi retailers. Deaton, an attorney, has served four terms as a member of the Mississippi Legislature, presently serving as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

The closing segment of the business session on Tuesday will feature Dr. Tom Haggal speaking on "Almost a Chosen People." Dr. Haggal of High Point, N.C., has been a minister since age 12. For the last decade he has averaged speaking once a day, logging more than 250,000 miles each year.

Coast Electric names administrative asst.

Coast Electric Power Association general manager Henry Thomas announced this week that Patricia L. Mauffray has been employed by the company as an administrative assistant.

Miss Mauffray has been assistant to the administrator of Rankin General Hospital, Jackson, for the past three years. Prior to this she held positions with Deposit Guaranty Bank in Jackson; General Electric Company, Bay St. Louis; and the Department of Justice (FBI), New Orleans, Louisiana.

A native of Picayune, Mississippi, Miss Mauffray graduated from Picayune High School, in 1958, the University of Southern Mississippi in 1962, and received her Master of Education degree from U.S.M. in 1971. She holds membership and is active in many professional organizations.

Thomas stated that Miss Mauffray will be working with department heads and supervisors during the coming weeks to obtain a general understanding of Coast Electric.

At the end of this period she will assist the manager and members of the staff in the coordinating and expediting of special projects and general staff functions.

Ask the VA

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q - I bought my first home with a GI loan, and am now considering purchase of a new house. Should I obtain a release from the VA before negotiating for my new home?

A - Veterans are urged to obtain a "release of liability" from VA if the purchaser of a house bought with a GI Loan assumes the loan. Otherwise, the seller (veteran) could be held financially liable should the purchaser default on mortgage payments.

Q - How were veterans' benefits affected by President Ford's proclamation ending the Vietnam Era on May 7, 1975?

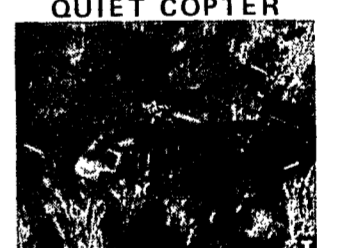

A - Potential eligibility for persons entering service after May 7, 1975, was terminated for such wartime benefits as nonservice-connected disability pensions for veterans, burial allowances and nonservice-connected death pensions for widows and surviving children of veterans. Unaffected was GI Bill educational training, for which eligibility is linked to service dates established by Congress. GI home loan benefits also were unaffected.

Q - I am a veteran enrolled in an approved adult education course to obtain a high school diploma. May I receive tutorial assistance?

A - No. A veteran pursuing a post-secondary education program on a half-time or more basis at an educational institution may receive tutorial assistance. A high school program is not considered post-secondary education.

INGENUITY In Mobile Defense

Little Known Facts QUIET COPTER

SOUND WISDOM—Helicopters are more effective if they can't be heard before they are seen.

The most efficient Army helicopters are something like children. They should be seen before they're heard.

That's because in mobile defense silence can make the difference. Yet until recently the Army had no choice but to use helicopters that could be heard before they were seen. In fact, utility helicopters now in service are audible 4 1/2 minutes away.

From a defense patrol standpoint, it's preferable to fly helicopters that can approach closer to suspect territory without being heard. That's a feature of the new Sikorsky Utility Tactical Transport Aircraft System (UTTAS). Noise levels in the YUH-60A have been greatly reduced through the use of swept blade tips coupled with the advanced design airfoils. As a result, the acoustic detection is only 20 percent of the Army's present utility helicopter. This new helicopter is always seen before it is heard.

And that could be a big plus for mobile defense.

Stennis, Finch headline MAS convention speakers

The Mississippi Association of Supervisors' 47th Annual convention at the Sheraton-Biloxi in Biloxi will be an education-oriented three-day training and business session beginning today.

W.J. Measells, Jr., Scott County supervisor and president of the Association, said the convention has been planned to provide a continuation of the Association's two-year professional advancement program. "Our educational effort, supported and coordinated by the Governor's Office of Job Development and Training, the federal, state and local programs office of the Governor, and the Center for Government Technology, Cooperative Extension Service at Mississippi State University, is a program our Association offers to upgrade the services supervisors provide their constituencies," said Measells.

Subjects to be studied at the convention include property taxation, investment of idle county funds, financial management, road administration and recently enacted legislation affecting county government. Seminars on the topics will be conducted with experts on the subjects lecturing and moderating discussions. "While all problems of county government cannot be solved in any one meeting," Measells continued, "this kind of study of them can result in solutions. It can also better equip individual supervisors to solve them at the local level."

Attorneys for the county Boards of Supervisors will be meeting with the Supervisors to study county business. Julius Lotterhos, Jr., of Hazlehurst, Copiah County board attorney, has called a meeting of the Board Attorneys' Association to study ways they can better serve the supervisors. As chairman of the Attorneys' Association, Lotterhos has designed a program to educate the board attorneys on preparation of county financial statements for bond issues and on financing of and planning for county penal facilities.

During the three-day session, Sen. John C. Stennis and Gov. Cliff Finch will address the Association.

Also at the convention's Annual Prayer Breakfast, the president's son, Clark Measells, director of music at Ellisville Baptist Church, will present a program of religious music in which he, accompanied by his wife, will be the vocalist. The tradition of hosting the president's minister will be continued with an address by Rev. T.W. Henderson, minister, Branch Baptist Church, the home church of the president and his family.

Entertainment of the families of the supervisors will include style shows and tours for the wives, poolside hamburger parties for the children and inclusion of families at sessions of interest to them.

Dr. Robert Wall of Mississippi College, Clinton, will present his nationally acclaimed audio-visual work "America The Beautiful." The presentation will be the highlight of the Association's observance of the Bicentennial Year's celebration and will conclude the convention Saturday night.

GREAT! SCOTCH

By Jack House, The Director Teacher's Scotch Information Centre

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

If you have some Campbells living down the block, or maybe some Camerons, give them a close look the next time you meet. If they are living up to their names, Mr. Campbell should have a wry grin and Mr. Cameron's nose should be out of joint. These two Clan names come from the Old Scottish language. The translation of Campbell is "crooked mouth" and Cameron is "crooked nose."

In any case, points out Teacher's Scotch Information Centre, they are better off than one Scottish Clan which lost its name altogether. This was the Clan Macgregor which fought a pitched battle with the Clan Colquhoun and killed nearly every able-bodied man. The widows took the dead men's bloodstained plaids to the King. He was so shocked that he outlawed the Macgregors and left them nameless. The Macgregors then took the name of Campbell, but gradually the ban was lifted. Today Macgregor is an honored name in Scotland.

Opinion/Jake Jacob

We accept the responsibilities imposed on us by the First Amendment

Hancock Justice Court Judge Joe Dobson earlier this month denied a press gag motion presented by Defense Attorney Martin S. Pinales of Cincinnati, in a case involving six defendants charged with possession and intent to deliver or sell some 19,000 pounds of marijuana.

Pinales contended the gag order was mandatory "...in order to assure a fair and impartial trial free from adverse publicity."

In issuing a denial, Justice Dobson cited a ruling handed down the previous week by the United States Supreme Court.

In that decision the Court declared a State of Nebraska gag order - issued in respect to publicity concerning a "sensational" murder trial - was an unconstitutional violation of press freedom.

The base of legal controversy in effect arose on the challenge made between interpretation and application of the First and Sixth Amendments to the Bill of Rights.

The First Amendment states, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

The wording of the Six Amendment, according to many attorneys, and particularly the defense attorneys in the Nebraska case, permitted variation under circumstances leading to undue influence having been exerted on the public, and more particularly potential jurors.

The Sixth Amendment says, "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State, and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusations; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining Witnesses in his favor, and to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defense."

The arguments concerning the First Amendment's guarantees of a free press and the Sixth Amendment's rights to a fair trial eventually overshadowed the murder trial itself, and led to the Supreme Court being introduced to the case.

Recognizing the continuing and probably increasing likelihood of "press gag" motions, the Court recognized its responsibility and met head on - the arguments of free press vs. fair and impartial trial.

The nine justices handed down a unanimous decision in favor of the press - under almost any circumstances.

Chief Justice Warren Burger, in his majority opinion, said, "Prior restraints on speech and publication are the most serious and least tolerable infringements on First Amendment rights."

Acknowledging that pretrial publicity could affect "the accused's" right to a fair trial, the Court suggested the careful screening of jurors for prejudice could have provided a means of ensuring this provision.

In separate, albeit concurring opinions, Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, and Byron White, closed the door more firmly on Burger's "...almost any circumstances..." by doubting that exceptions could be made.

Justices Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall joined with a third opinion, also in concurrence, written by Justice William Brennan, declaring that gag orders should never be imposed on the press during judicial proceedings.

In his opinion, Brennan said, in part, "...The press may be arrogant, tyrannical, abusive and sensationalist...but the decision of what, when and how to publish is for editors, not judges."

We congratulate Justice Dobson on the swiftness and sureness of his response, particularly in view of the length, depth, and breadth of those who were then among us whose application of expertise may have included an attempt to influence this decision by the introduction of emotion-filled courtroom exercises.

We would also like to provide an interpretation of the First Amendment, made in the case of Grosjean v. American Press Co., 56 S.Ct. 44, 297 U.S. 233, 80 L.Ed. 643 (1936) as reprinted in "Mississippi Newspapers and the Law," second edition, University of Mississippi: "This amendment and Amendment 14 were intended to preclude Congress and the states from adopting any form of restraint upon printed publications, or their circulation, including those restraints which had theretofore been affected by means of censorship, license, and taxation, and from taking any government action which might prevent such free and general discussion of public matters as seems essential to prepare the people for an intelligent exercise of their rights as citizens."

Further, we quote an opinion handed down in the case of U.S. v. Powell, 171 F. Supp. 202 (D.C. Cal. 1959), again as reprinted in "Mississippi Newspapers and the Law" - second edition, University of Mississippi: "This right of freedom of the press is not for the benefit of the press but for the benefit of the people, and newspaper publishers have a high degree of responsibility to preserve the doctrine of freedom of the press for the benefit of people and not for their own benefit."

Finally, we quote an opinion also reprinted in "Mississippi Newspapers and the Law," Second Edition, University of Mississippi, handed down in the case of the New York Times v. Sullivan, 376 U.S. 254, 11 L. Ed. 2d 686, 84 S. Ct. 710 (1964): "The First Amendment requires that debate on public issues should be uninhibited, robust, and wide open, and such debate may well include vehement, caustic, and sometimes unpleasantly sharp attacks on government and public officials."

It is and has been the intent of this newspaper to accept and exercise the privileges and responsibilities with which it is charged under the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

It is the responsibility to which we have been charged by our readers!

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I was surprised to read your article in the July 11th issue of the Sea Coast Echo "Medicaid Program in Jeopardy at Gulf View Haven Home."

Let us try to be as practical as possible without letting our frail human emotions overcome our intellectual capacity to reason logically and correctly.

Let us begin by saying that there is no such place as a perfect or near perfect, "Old Folks" or "Nursing home for the elderly," however, for people like myself and others, no matter how seemingly wealthy they may appear to be, do have mothers and fathers or other members of their families in these homes where they are able to get constant, 24-hours a day care.

My mother, Mrs. John Shubert, is a patient at Gulf View Haven Home, and has been for more than six months. I live a great distance from her and I am not physically or financially able to pay for regular 24 hour nursing care for her in her home. This fact does not lessen my love for her nor diminish my concern for her future well being. She has reached the advanced age of 89 years and I do not think that it is mine or any other persons prerogative to just let her die because she is not able to care for herself. For this reason homes for the elderly were established and that is why they exist. These homes may not have the finest furniture nor the most beautiful surroundings and maybe they do not have a designated number of registered nurses on duty at all times. These patients do not care about their surroundings neither do they care whether a registered nurse attends to their needs. What is important is their physical safety, food and clothing and personal care and cleanliness of facilities.

To my knowledge this home meets all of these requirements. I have never gone to this home and found my mother in a neglected condition. She has always cared for in a way that is important to patient and family, maybe not by a registered nurse, but by friendly, courteous and dedicated people working for the home.

Even in this age of advanced technology there is no substitute for tender loving care. Gulf View Haven Home does exhibit this magic ingredient, and therefore, I would ask your support in keeping this necessary and worthwhile institution in operation until other standard requirements are met that have been established by the state, and Board of Health in order to participate in the Medicaid Program. Yes, more time is all we ask!

Yours truly,
FRANCIS J. SHUBERT

To The Editor,

Thieves broke into the Shoreline Baptist Church on Waveland Ave. and stole the following: two air conditioners, a coffee urn, vacuum cleaner, electric skillet, silverware and a garbage can which was probably used to haul the small things away in.

We can't help but think of the 24th chapter of Luke verses 39-43 where Jesus said to one of the two thieves on each side of His cross.

"Today thou shalt be with me in paradise." Where will you be?

Barber shoppers find themselves in tune at a growing clip

By SIVA E. HAGSTROM

Staff Reporter of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

SAN FRANCISCO—As 54-year-old Lee Wynne pedals the last yards of his 1,107-mile bicycle ride from Spokane, Wash., to San Francisco, a large crowd in front of the Hilton Hotel here whoops, whistles and yells.

The crowd cheers as it learns Mr. Wynne has received $13,000 in donations and pledges from sponsors and friends he met on his bicycle journey that began June 19. Mr. Wynne, a retired police detective, will turn the money over to the Institute of Logopedics, a Wichita, Kans., research and education center for children with speech defects.

A bicycle built for four arrives and four men, wearing identical blue-plaid suits and yellow derby hats, dismount. The crowd cheers again as they sing "Down Our Way" and "My Wild Irish Rose."

It's all part of the hoopla and color of a barbershop quartet convention. The Institute of Logopedics is the adopted philanthropy of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America Inc.

The 10,500 people at the society's international convention that just ended here are part of a growing movement of fanatical harmonizers. In the U.S. and Canada, the group has 37,000 members, including about 7,000 additions in the past decade. What's more, four-part harmonizing is catching on overseas, says Barrie Best, executive director of the society. The British Association of Barbershoppers has 1,000 members in 27 clubs scattered from Scotland to southern England. Chapters of the American society may be formed soon in Australia, New Zealand and Sweden, he adds.

The society attracts men of diverse ages and occupations, including Charles M. Merrill, a U.S. appeals court judge; William Hanna, a producer of animated cartoons;

Vern Holmes, president of Sentry Life Insurance Co. and Sentry Mutual Fund Inc., and Forrest Shackle Jr., director and cofounder of Shackle Corp., a marketer of food supplements, cosmetics and household products. Although society membership is limited to males, Mr. Best says there haven't been any challenges or complaints from women because they have their own barbershop harmony organizations, Sweet Adelines and Harmony Inc.

Barbershop quartets consist of a tenor, a bass, a baritone and a lead who sing "a cappella," that is without instrumental accompaniment. The lead, who usually has the range of a tenor, sings the melody while the three others harmonize. The distinctive sound of barbershop harmony, barbershoppers claim, results from the tenor always harmonizing above the lead.

In the San Francisco Hilton lobby, the convention headquarters, there is a constant hum, the tuning of voices to pitch pipes, and bursts of such songs as "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree."

Forty-eight quartets and 15 choruses had been rehearsing for months or even years to win the singing contests at the convention.

When the convention ends, the newly declared champions are the Insiders, a quartet from Houston, and the Phoenixians, a chorus from Phoenix.

Owen C. Cash and Rupert I. Hall founded the society in 1938 because they missed the barbershop style of singing they had done as young boys with their fathers. The first meeting in Tulsa attracted 100 members who caused a traffic jam. When the local newspaper reported the cause of the traffic jam and a wire service picked up the news, the organization grew.

"We never will replace rock 'n' roll or country Western," says Mr. Best, "But we'll always have a good hard-core group of men who enjoy our type of singing."

BICENTENNIAL

By JOE PILET

"A Declaration of Dependence" was selected as the theme of a planned Labor Day county-wide celebration by a committee named by Mayor Warren Carver to coordinate the affair.

The group met last Tuesday in the conference room of the First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis. Mrs. Olive McKenna was named chairwoman in charge of arrangements for bands and choral music. It is hoped all churches within the county will bring their choral singers into the program with a songfest of patriotic and religious selections sung in unity. All bands will perform in unison.

Norton Haas Sr. was named coordinator for the Boy and Girl Scouts throughout the County. Joe Pilet was named together with John McKenna for public relations and publicity and the several ministers of churches throughout the area will work together to produce a program within a one hour time limit.

Each church in the county is being asked to prepare a brief history of their church including information such as date of organization, first officials, number of members and present membership and present officials.

During the ceremony these briefs are to be collected and placed in the "time capsule" vaults of the banks to be opened in the year 2076.

Heading this Bicentennial and all-faiths program is Mayor Warren Carver who announced the Bay St. Louis Tiger Stadium would be the location for the ceremony. Financial funding is expected from both county and the twin cities of Bay and Waveland.

Research can improve state's farm catfish production

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Catfish farming is alive and well in Mississippi, with the Magnolia state leading all others in farm catfish production. But Dr. Dale Arner, Head of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, Mississippi Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station (MAFES), thinks it can be improved and made more profitable through research.

"We have been doing catfish research for years," Arner said, "and our findings have helped farmers stabilize the catfish farming industry through better nutrition, disease control and so on. Now, with farmers producing catfish in 25,000 acres of ponds in Mississippi and selling their harvest for a total annual gross income of $27 million, research should be stepped up to give fish farmers a base for an expanding industry."

Current research in the state, much of it by MAFES scientists, is aimed at solving some of the most pressing problems catfish farmers face. Dr. H.R. Robinette of the Wildlife and Fisheries Department is trying to improve catfish nutrition further, although some progress has already been made in this area. Assisted by Dr. David Wesley, he is seeking the best ration at the lowest cost which will give catfish the nutrition they need. Meanwhile, Dr. Roland Reagan is bringing his knowledge of catfish genetics to bear in attempting to breed a superior strain of fish-fish that will be hardy, grow rapidly and convert feed to meat efficiently.

Dr. Tom Wellborn, Wildlife and Fisheries Specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service, an adjunct professor of the department, is doing research in catfish diseases as well as teaching some classes. Dr. Wendell Lorio conducts fishery and limnological studies—investigations of the effect of chemical and physical properties of water on fresh water fish in river and bay areas of South Mississippi.

Arner hopes to expand catfish research gradually over the next few years. Right now scientists have limited facilities to work with. The catfish laboratory on MAFES' south farm provides 4,000 square feet of space, as well as rearing and holding tanks, aluminum troughs, and facilities for heating water. There are 12 ponds of one-tenth acre each and four ponds of one-quarter acre each. There is a deep well which provides a good water supply. Additional wells will probably be needed for expansion.

At another location is the catfish parasitology and disease laboratory, covering about 1,200 square feet, and an analytic laboratory which adds about 500 square feet.

"Expanded facilities and increased manpower are both needed," Arner reported. "Our first priority should be to increase the number of one-tenth-acre ponds from 12 to 28, and the number of one-quarter-acre ponds from four to eight. There is some land adjacent to existing ponds on the south farm which can be used for this when money for pond construction becomes available." He said additional manpower would also be needed as the catfish research effort grows.

The scientist said research is showing how to produce more catfish in a certain amount of water. Once stocked with no more than 2,000 fish, an acre pond may now be stocked with as many as 3,000 to 4,000. Information on how to avoid killing of a pond full of catfish by letting the oxygen level of the water drop too low, facts on disease control, understanding and correcting nutritional deficiencies—these have helped make the catfish business the profitable enterprise it is today. Arner would like for MAFES research to keep pace with this ever-growing industry.

HELPFUL TIPS TO SAVE YOU MONEY

New Windshield Washer Pump—In 20 Minutes!
New drivers enjoy pushing the button over the wiper switch and not getting a spray of water. Now, thanks to Anco, a new windshield washer pump is available at your service station that can be installed in 20 minutes or less! All it takes is a screwdriver, pliers and wrench. Here's how:

1. First, loosen the bolts holding the old unit to the firewall. Replacing a pump is easier than changing a tire.

2. Next, unplug the electrical connections. About seven million washer pumps will have to be replaced this year.

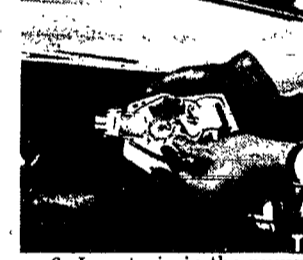

3. Disconnect the hose attachments to the pump. Pumps usually have to be replaced after three years, or about 40,000 miles.

4. Remove the new pump from its box. Pumps generally fall because the brushes within the unit burn out.

5. Take the cover off the new pump and remove the pin from the top of the unit. Properly working windshield washer pumps can save lives.

6. Insert pin in the pump and replace the cover, bolt the unit to the firewall, hook up the electrical and hose connections and the new pump is ready to go.

NEWS OF NUTRIENTS

If you find you're frequently feeling fatigued, merely getting more sleep may not be enough. You should see a doctor who might point out that you need to eat more of the right foods.

Your body may be lacking sugar, which supplies it with energy, or you may need more vitamins and minerals. Vitamin C, for instance, helps strengthen your blood vessels and helps your body resist infection. Vitamin B₁₂ helps the body turn sugar and starches into energy. Some doctors even prescribe B₁₂ as a tonic to people who are run down. Vitamin B₁₂ is used by your cells to get oxygen. Insufficient oxygen can really make you feel tired. Iron is needed to produce hemoglobin, the blood's oxygen-carrying protein, and calcium is an essential chemical component of the blood. It also plays an important role in stabilizing the functions of the nervous system.

Fortunately, Super Mott's Prune Juice has vitamin C added.

Getting all the nutrients you need can help you have the energy you want.

FARM BUREAU INSURANCE — HWY. 603 KILN JIM SMITH
If partners or stockholders enter into a Buy-and-Sell Agreement, each purchasing insurance on the lives of the others to fund the Agreement, are the proceeds subject to tax... includible in the insured's estate?

If, under this Buy-and-Sell Agreement, proceeds are not payable to the insured's estate and the insured has no incidents of ownership in the policies on his life, the proceeds are not includible in his gross estate. For example, if a provision in the Agreement prohibited the insured from surrendering, borrowing or changing the beneficiary, he would have no incidents of ownership in the policy. Therefore, under the Buy-and-Sell Agreement, the proceeds from the policy would not be a part of the gross estate. However, the value of his partnership interest or corporate stock is included and subject to Federal estate tax.

PERFECT MARRIAGE

"Hang in there" is a phrase of encouragement to anyone encountering the first hardships of a new venture, a new and unaccustomed experience, the first problems in a life which had always been a breeze before.

In the case of marriage, the words are "Hang in there together." Marriage is something divine. It has divine origin, divine sanction, and divine purpose.

But it is also very human. It is a wonderful combination of the divine and the human, as all of life is when it is really life. It takes a lot of faith to make a marriage. It takes faith on the part of people, faith in God and faith in one another.

FIGHTING INFLATION

You can fight inflation by turning an old window shade into a blackboard. Simply paint it with black board paint and your children can have a black board that rolls up when not in use.

You can fight inflation by buying milk by the gallon or half gallon instead of quarts, as long as your family will drink it before it spoils.

Pass authors compile history

Publication of "The History of Pass Christian" by R. J. and Katy Cairre was announced this week by Robert Sullivan, Lafayette Publishers, Pass Christian and New Orleans. The publication date is December 1, with a pre-publication sale of the book through October 15 with a discount for buyers. The history will be offered both in hardcover and paperback, with 144 letter size pages. The pre-publication sale will be handled primarily through Pass Christian churches and the Chamber of Commerce. Nine of the 21 chapters deal with the chronological history of Pass Christian, beginning with the migration of the Mayan Indians of Mexico to form the Choctaw and Chickasaw tribes in Mississippi, and going through July 4, 1976. Other chapters deal with specialized subjects such as Black history, transportation, government, churches and cemeteries, schools and libraries, culture, plants and birds, recreation, hotels and restaurants, land developments and housing, and commerce and industry.

keeping you in touch

What you do this month can help you save on your next month's bill! How? Consider these suggestions:
Self-service is cheaper, so dial direct the One-Plus way. If you don't have to involve the operator on your long distance call, the rate is lower. And with the new one-minute rate for One-Plus dialed calls, you can now make several calls for less money than one person-to-person visit.

Use that '800' telephone number, there's no charge. A lot of companies will gladly pay for you to call them. You'll find many of these numbers in your phone book and in advertisements.

Plan in advance what you're going to say, and get right to it. You'll save more if you say less.

Dial evenings, nights, and weekends when One-Plus rates are lowest, and it's natural visiting time. Dial One-Plus calls between 5 p.m. and 11 p.m. Sunday through Friday, and you get a 35% discount off the 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekday One-Plus rates. Or dial One-Plus calls nights between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. and on weekends from 11 p.m. Friday until 5 p.m. Sunday and you get a 60% discount off the 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekday rate.

Have all your phone installations done at one time, and you'll eliminate extra visits by an installer which require extra charges. By planning all of your installations or phone changes in advance, you'll save money.

*Low One-Plus rates do not apply to Zero-Plus dialed, operator handled, or coin telephone calls.

If the flowers and vegetables are growing well this year in your garden, chances are the weeds are, too. But, there's an easy and economical way to keep weeds out and soil moisture in. Lay loose layers of old newspapers between rows and cover with leaves or grass clippings. It's a great way to mulch while putting old newspapers and garden refuse to work.

I hope you had a happy fourth of July and enjoyed the three-day weekend. Nobody is happier about summer's arrival than those of the pint-size generation. They're really enjoying days filled with baseball, swimming, bicycling, romping, with the dog or - as young folks put it - just messing around. We can all help make this the safest summer yet for our children. When they chase a ball into the street, they don't always remember to watch for cars. And the youngsters learning to ride bikes sometimes forget that they're out where we're driving. So look out for them and make their vacation a safe one by driving carefully.

Make good things happen fast
... by long distance.

R. J. CAIRRE

A final chapter called "Faces" gives the names of early settlers; two generations of more than 150 Pass Christian twentieth century families; names of over 100 New Orleans families who made the Pass their second home; the list of outstanding citizen awards, the war dead, and the casualties from Hurricane Camille.

A number of historic photographs are also included in the book, and artist Marie "Mike" Sandford has been commissioned to do paintings of early historic scenes. These paintings will also appear in the book.

Cairre is a native of Louisiana, educated in New Orleans schools and at LSU. His work career started as a reporter-photographer for the New Orleans States and Life magazine. He is the author of "South Louisiana Plantation Homes." After more than 20 years in the public relations business, he commenced publishing a weekly newspaper at Pass Christian in 1969, retiring in early 1976 for health reasons.

Katy Cairre is a native of Biloxi, Mississippi, and attended public schools in Biloxi and New Orleans before graduating from Newcomb College with a B.A. She began her professional career as a reporter on the New Orleans Item and Tribune. She is the author of "Cooking Up A Storm."

Insurance policies should be stored in a safe and convenient location. Life and health policies should be placed in a location where all of your family will have ready access to them in cases of emergencies. This will eliminate having to locate this information when the insured is unable to discuss the insurance policies. It is advisable that automobile policies not be kept in the glove compartment of your car to prevent it from being lost if there is a fire. Consider a fire-proof metal box to store your policies along with other valuables which you should safeguard.

Tenn-Tom waterway to provide recreational areas en route

Water-related recreation is one of the most visible and immediate benefits to be derived from the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

An outdoor paradise of lakes and parks is being created along the waterway route in what has been, until now, virtually land-locked and barren of recreational facilities.

When Tenn-Tom is completed in the mid-1980's, there will be 13,345 acres along its route developed into recreational facilities. Approximately 40,000 acres of lakes will be impounded between Demopolis, Ala. and Pickwick Lake near Luka.

An estimated three million visits will be made to these six lakes in 1984, and that figure will grow to seven million within a few years, and that's not counting fishermen.

There are 48 different park locations being developed along the waterway by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in conjunction with waterway construction. These parks areas will provide an abundance of facilities for camping, picnicking, swimming, boating, fishing, hiking, skiing and other water-related sports.

Recreational developments along the waterway are expected to represent a $50 million investment with the initial development expected to represent more than half of the total development cost.

At least one major park will be located on each of the lakes and smaller parks will also be located on each of the lakes. There will be land set aside for the development of a marina at each lake. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers will lease the land for the marina operation, but will not build the facility, which will be left to private enterprise.

In the initial stages of construction, recreation facilities to be built will include 21 overlooks, 73 boat launching ramps, 4,420 parking areas with varying numbers of spaces per area, more than 1,000 picnic units, 34 shelters, numerous fishing decks and nearly 100 miles of nature trails.

Seven swimming beaches are planned and facilities for six group camping areas are also on the drawing board.

DRIVEN TO INVESTIGATE

Going nowhere can take you far, when you're testing engine lubricants. Production model cars were driven thousands of miles to measure fuel economy in precise, scientific simulated road and traffic tests. The cars showed they could go up to 10 extra miles per tankful of gasoline when using Mobil 1 synthesized engine lubricant instead of conventional premium oil. This might cause some to say that when you use Mobil 1 for the road, you can be thankful with every tankful.

The major league baseball player who received most bases on balls was Babe Ruth. The Babe walked 2,056 times.

FACTS & FIGURES

The state of Pennsylvania has more than a trillion cubic feet of natural gas reserves, more than 35,000 producing oil wells, about 16 billion tons of coke and about 81 million tons of coal.

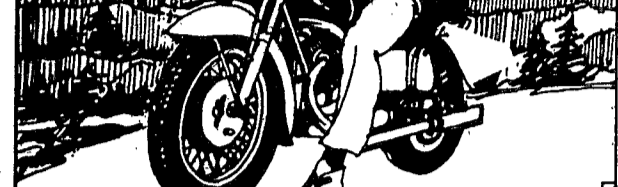

Helping to finance the use of these vast fuel supplies for energy generation and industrial purposes is just one of the more than 2,800 projects undertaken by the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce-sponsored Revenue Bond & Mortgage Program.

Since 1967, this program has helped create 144,000 new jobs for Pennsylvanians and has been important in preserving another 520,000. Although more than $5 billion was required to do that, not a cent of it was state money. Instead, the state attracts new industry by allowing development loans to be made at lower than normal interest rates, because those rates are tax-exempt.

THE EXTRA MONEY CAN COME IN HANDY

Join the Army Reserve, and you can make about $50 a weekend, just by going to meetings. With regular promotions and pay raises, it amounts to a nice extra income that you can save, use for emergencies, or spend on the weekends you have off. See your local Army Reserve unit for details.

COOLING COSTS MONEY USE ELECTRICITY WISELY

Primarily because of air conditioning, Mississippi Power Company's typical residential customer buys twice as many kilowatt-hours in midsummer as in April. And this increased use of electricity is reflected in your monthly bill.

We suggest that when you compare this month's bill with last month's, also compare the number of kilowatt-hours used. Only you can control the amount of electricity you use.

Here are some summertime cooling tips to help you get the greatest possible value from your electric service dollar.

1. Set your thermostat at the highest comfortable setting, usually about 78 degrees. The lower the setting, the more energy required to operate the air conditioning unit.
2. Clean or change air conditioning filters at least once a month. Dirty filters make the unit work harder and cause higher operating costs.
3. Your air conditioning unit works extra hard to combat heat from direct sunlight. Awnings, shutters, and drapes over windows provide the best protection from sun's rays. Keep them drawn during the sunniest part of the day.
4. If your unit has been off during a cool night, give it an early start the next morning before a new day's summer heat fills the house.
5. Check attic for adequate ventilation. Otherwise, excess heat builds up and makes your cooling system work harder than necessary.
6. When replacing or adding a cooling unit, select one with a high energy efficiency ratio (EER). The higher the EER number, the more efficient the cooling unit. An EER of 7.5 or better is considered good.
7. Use major heat-producing appliances during the cooler hours of the day, in the morning or at night. This will help reduce the cooling load during the hottest part of the day (usually between 12 noon and 8 p.m. in this area). Cooling equipment is less efficient when the outdoor temperature is high.

The Wonderful World Of Tomorrow

Automobile experts know that one way to save energy for the future is to have lighter cars. They also know that one way to have lighter cars is to make more parts of plastic. It has been predicted that by 1980, there will be 400 pounds of plastic in every car.

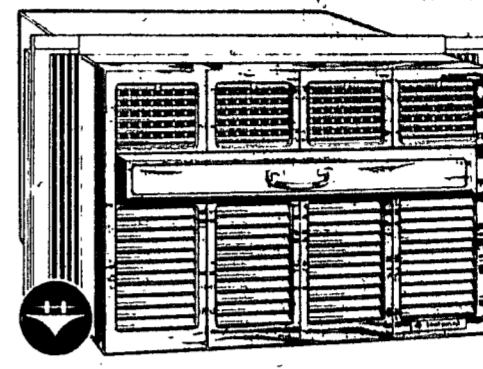

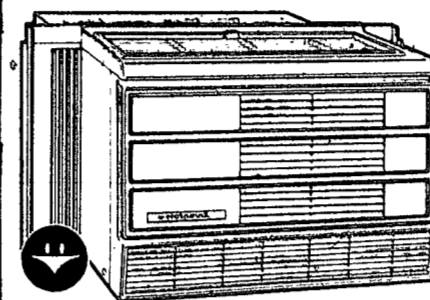

An increasing number of plastic plates will probably be seen on American tables. That's a pretty healthy idea since they can't develop the unsanitary, dirt-collecting crease-cracks that china can.

It has been predicted that by the year 2,000, the plastics industry will contribute so much to the American economy that it will account for 7.2 percent of the Gross National Product and employ 1.3 percent of the labor force.

Hancock mounts are best of Shows

(Special to The Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La. - Two horses owned and trained by Kenneth Shows of Hancock County were victorious here Sunday on a 20-race program at Oak Downs.

The first Shows' victory was by Super Dale, an easy winner over Gerald Averett's Jet A Go in the three-furlong fourth. In the ninth race, Shows' Go Kenny Go posted a Class A time of 16.26 seconds in turning back Gypsy Chick (16.325), owned by Clyde Moran, also of Hancock County.

Other Hancock County winners were:
-Roger Ladner's Missy's Filly in the 400-yard eighth with a Class A time of 21.06.
-Eugene Necaise's Deek's Bill in the 350-yard 10th with a Class A clocking of 18.79.

-Edward Patton's The Fighting Kid in the 330-yard 15th with a Class A time of 17.74.
-Robert Mitchell's Mo Jo Bailey in the 300-yard 18th with a Top B time of 16.48.

In a couple of grudge races, Joe Robert's Sporty Falcon evened the score at two races each with a victory over John Paul Amacker's Quardro Luck in the 440-yard sixth, and Ann Hammons' Flying Joe gained revenge for a previous defeat against Welton Cuevas' Frenie Brewer in the five-furlong 11th.

Donald Adcox' Bright And Foxy finished with a strong rush to overhaul Eddie Zundel's Star City in the five-furlong 14th which featured five horses.

The final race of the day proved to be the closest as Jackie Whitfield's Go Fella Go, a decided underdog, came from behind to nip Boots Thompson's Esso Chick by a nose in a 300-yard match.

Sunday's results:

VISITORS DISCOVER A GRACIOUS PORT CITY

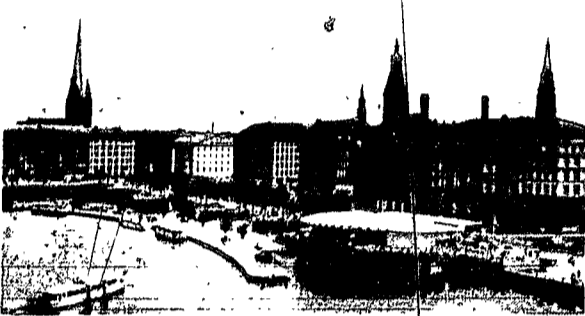

Water makes Hamburg one of the world's greatest ports and one of the world's most gracious cities. Looking outward to the Elbe River, cranes and masts bristle above a 38-square mile kaleidoscope of ships and quays, warehouses and loading platforms that changes constantly with the passage of 50 or 60 ships a day. Looking inward to the city center, sailboats bob on the gentler waters of Alster, a half-mile-wide lake surrounded by shady banks and footpaths, gracious mansions and millionaires' mansions.

Shade trees, and big turn-of-the-century houses line broad avenues that crisscross the city. Vast parks interrupt commerce with lawns, flower gardens and woodlands.

Hamburg, Germany's second largest city after Berlin, is second only to Berlin in cultural attractions. Eighty art galleries are scattered through the city. Broadway and London musical companies perform regularly, and the Hamburg Opera, one of Germany's leading companies, has been a favorite launching ground for American singers who return to debut with the Metropolitan Opera.

Ships of 70 countries call at the port of Hamburg and its restaurant choice is the younger set, is the place of comparable cosmopolitan for jazz and rock music.

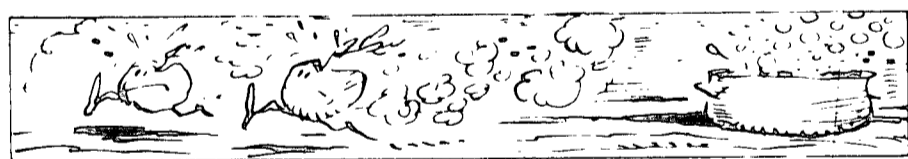

A stroll through "Planten un Blomen" park (top left) is a pleasant rest for busy tourists. Sightseeing ferries (top) leave Hamburg's exclusive shopping promenade to tour twin lakes of the Alster. The cabarets in St. Pauli (bottom) provide entertainment of all kinds.

Sailors ashore look for entertainment, and St. Pauli, a city tradition to end Saturday near the docks, has long night or begin Sunday provided it. The area today is a vast amusement district. Market, where for near with night life attractions ranging from the Eros Center to the "Zollertal" Bavar and flowers have been sold at open stalls, while visitors and workers relax with a beer in the friendly taverns.

A song goes, "In Hamburg the night is long." As long and full as a visitor could want. And so are the days.

Lufthansa German Air lines now brings Hamburg within direct reach of Americans with nonstop flights four times weekly from New York. Detour on flights to Hamburg and illustrated folders on packaged tours 4 or 5 the next morning and Fly & Drive vacations, Eppendorf, favorite of the jet set, is the place of comparable cosmopolitan for jazz and rock music.

There's jazz in Hamburg and its restaurant choice is the younger set, is the place of comparable cosmopolitan for jazz and rock music.

YOUR FINANCES

USING 'LAZY' MONEY

Do you have "lazy" money, surplus cash over and above what you would need for emergencies? If so, how can you put it to work?

You can join the millions of Americans who own stocks and bonds.

First, determine what your specific investment objective should be and then buy your securities accordingly.

According to Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the world's largest securities company, the three major investment objectives are: safety of principal, liberal dividend income, and growth of capital. It is possible, for example, to have a relatively high degree of safety combined with a fairly liberal dividend income. And there are some stocks which offer both liberal dividends and growth possibilities.

Merrill Lynch's research staff has prepared How to Invest, a booklet designed to aid a new investor. Whatever your investment objective, write to Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, 866 Third Avenue, Suite 2000, New York 10022, for a free copy.

Mississippi ranked among leaders in forest lands

Mississippi ranked no lower than ninth among all 50 states in at least eight categories of forestry activity during fiscal year 1975, according to a report recently released by the U.S. Forest Service. The Magnolia State ranked second only to Alabama in total production of tree seedlings at State nurseries. Three Mississippi Forestry Commission nurseries grew and distributed more than 60 million trees for the 1975-76 planting season. Alabama grew 75 million. The State ranked fourth in total acres planted to seedlings on privately owned land and, in direct-seeded acreage. Four thousand acres of non-federal public land (mostly 16th sections) planted to trees during the recent fiscal period was good enough to rank Mississippi fifth nationally in this category.

Twenty-four thousand acres of site preparation work to secure natural regeneration of trees placed the State sixth in the nation as did the accomplishment of 54,743 acres of timber stand improvement (cull and undesirable tree deadening).

Nearly 178,000 acres of improved harvesting was carried out in Mississippi during the period from July 1, 1974, to June 30, 1975; good enough for eighth place.

More than 9,300 acres of federal land in the state (primarily National Forest land) was planted to trees. That was ninth best in the nation.

State Forester Billy Gaddis said "Mississippi landowners in growing numbers are realizing the value and utility of their forest land."

THE RICHTERMAN KITCHEN

State-of-Mainers look back in longing at their grandmother's golden Gums, fresh from the oven, bursting with summer fruit. "Gums" is the old-fashioned name for muffins. They are still prepared in Down East kitchens, and served for breakfast and lunch. Any leftover muffins are toasted and served for dessert with ice cream or fruit topping.

Perfect muffins, tender and slightly pebbled within, rounded on top, are among the easiest hot breads to prepare. They can be mixed in minutes—in fact, one of the secrets of success is a minimum of mixing. Stir only enough to moisten the dry ingredients; the batter should be lumpy, not smooth.

To New Englanders, breakfast isn't breakfast without a hot bread. These muffins make a delicious light breakfast served with juice or coffee. For heartier fare, serve with eggs and sausages.

STATE-OF-MAINE BLUEBERRY MUFFINS
2 cups unsifted flour
1/4 cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) Blue Bonnet Margarine
1 egg, beaten
1 cup milk
1 cup fresh or frozen, thawed blueberries
Blend together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in Blue Bonnet Margarine until pieces are the size of small peas. Combine egg and milk. Add to flour mixture with blueberries. Stir quickly with fork just until dry ingredients are moistened. (Batter will be lumpy.) Spoon mixture evenly into 12 greased muffin pans 2-1/2 x 1-1/4 inches. Bake at 400°F. 25 min. hot. Makes 12 muffins.

Schooner ashore

Wearing Red Ensign of British Merchant Marine, ship right dwarts three-masted schooner alongside on beach. Both were swept ashore at Gulfport in Hurricane of 1912, according to George Koch of Turner Rd., Bay St. Louis, grandson of Christian Koch of Denmark who first visited Pearlington some 143 years ago. Note stay lines to mid-mast levels to both prevent overturn and retain masts intact. Koch allowed a metal vessel, similar to that shown, was cut up where she lay following the storm.

Christine Koch remembered

Christian Koch of Denmark first came to Pearlington about 1833-34.

After a brief visit to his native land, he returned to the area and in 1847 bought a home in Logtown from A. C. Russ.

He and his wife, the former Annette Netto from Pearlington, had seven children, three boys and four girls. One of these children, a son, Anille, in turn married Amie Summers, of Logtown.

Of that union, one son, George Summers Koch, now 93, married the former Sisle Adams of New Orleans, now 83, some 69 years ago. The couple now reside on Turner Street in Bay St. Louis.

In speaking Tuesday of his grandfather, Christian, George Koch said that he worked hard on his farm with such crops as vegetables, corn, and sugar cane.

"Grandfather made molasses to sell, and in that time - and when the potato crop was ready, we kids had to stay out of school to help.

"We got paid 10 cents a day and were given dinner.

"No work meant no 10 cents and no dinner - we worked," George Koch remembered.

He said the family's 300 acre farm is now part of the NASA buffer zone, a factor he does not recall with any pleasure. "We didn't sell them the land, they just rent it," he mused.

A locomotive and tug boat engineer - steam and diesel, George Koch said his father, and several other members of the family were licensed tug boat pilots, and others, like him, engineers.

Christian Koch who wrote the diary

Mr. and Mrs. George Koch in the garden of their home on Turner Road, Bay St. Louis. Mr. Koch is the grandson of Christian Koch who wrote the diary.

By JAKE JACOB
"Alligators are here in terrible flocks, but they are not so savage as in South America."

"I have never heard of them attacking a man, except one old man who stretched his mosquito net close to the bank of the river and went to sleep."

"Pearlington is a small, insignificant town. The only trade is in wood and cotton with New Orleans. There is no church so there is service only twice a year when a Methodist preacher comes from another town and holds services for three or four days."

These were the words of Christian Koch, Danish seafarer who came to Pearlington about 1834. Koch, who made the trip from New Orleans in a lumber schooner, kept a diary (albeit undated) covering his experiences in Mississippi and Louisiana.

A copy of this diary, later edited and translated by Koch's family, was made available Monday to the Hancock County Historical Society through the kind auspices of the family.

Jerome Boudreaux chaired the historical society's meeting and gave a reading from the diary. Cover dates state it covers activities between 1831 and 1836.

Koch, in the diary, wrote, "I had now taken hire on a little schooner of about 30 tons which sailed on Lake Pontchartrain to Pearlington, where it belonged."

"Pearlington lies about 70 English miles from New Orleans, eight miles up Pearl River which flows into Lake Borgne and is connected with Pontchartrain by a small sound (Rigolets). As far up the river as Pearlington the banks are low, without woods, and overgrown with tall grass or reeds 10 to 12 feet high. Lots of deer and cattle live here."

"It began to be Spring. The trees were already green at the close of February. Mosquitoes and sand flies flourished, and the alligators came out of their winter sleep. Flocks of crane and other birds came, and everything took on new life. There was one kind of crane that was of immense size. They surely were five feet high. They are black and white, and the first time I saw them I took them for a flock of sheep."

"The snakes also came forth in numberless masses. Where there was even the smallest pool of stagnant water you could see dozens of snakes basking in the sun. In the woods one had to be fearfully careful not to step on them. Most of them are poisonous. There are many rattlesnakes also, though I saw but one, and it was only three feet long and had only three rattles on its tail. With these rattles they make a small noise of warning, but not half so loud as I had imagined. One has to know the sound well not to mistake it for a grasshopper's song, as it is very much like it."

"The black snake, which here grows as long as eight feet, will chase you if it is teased. But when you stand still it will stand too."

Koch arrived in New Orleans "by accident."

Hiring on in Baltimore as a seaman aboard the "Ann McKean" to Valparaiso, Koch transferred to the schooner "Robert" just one day after returning to home port. The schooner was outward bound for Columbia on a trading trip.

The trip was eventful and his tales of escapades and "narrow" escapes fill several pages of the diary.

After a period of eight or nine months, the "Robert" left the Caribbean heading for Baltimore and home. Wearing away for the Gulf Stream, intending to pass to the south of Cuba, the schooner was struck by a violent storm which blew her far into the Gulf of Mexico, stove in the vessel, and carried away rigging. This left her no choice to but sail up the Mississippi into New Orleans.

Of his tenure in New Orleans and his first train ride - on one of the few railroads then in operation (running up Bayou St. John from New Orleans to the Lakefront) Koch wrote, "As soon as we reached New Orleans we went ashore, and I was paid off - about one hundred dollars. New Orleans is a very irregular town protected from the river by great levees. It lies in the middle of a great morass which is covered by cypress trees. It is five English miles from Lake Pontchartrain, and has about 80,000 inhabitants."

"In the summer it is very unhealthy to live here, and most of the rich move up the river. It is very expensive to live here. In this season the cholera was raging and they paid grave-diggers 14 dollars a day. It is a very immoral town, and Sundays are very little respected. It was nothing strange, in the morning, to see murdered people lying in the streets. The inhabitants consist of all possible nationalities, though mostly French and Spanish. Here is also a French Theatre."

"As I intended to go home in the spring as soon as I earned a little more money, I stayed only two days in New Orleans. Then I went down to Lake Pontchartrain on a railroad to hire to the steamboat "Watchman" that was hunting a crew."

"That was the first time I rode on a railroad. The locomotive pulled twenty to thirty cars so fast you could scarcely see anything near by. They could go still faster but, as the distance is only five and a half miles they have to begin to stop before they are fairly started. It is very dangerous to ride on, as the least obstacle on the track will overturn the train. It is not seldom that someone gets hurt - as they go so fast. They have a piece of wood fastened in front to throw things off the track but it does not always help. I saw the train once run over a cow which could not get off the track fast enough. The locomotive, being heavy, did not turn over, but all the cars, as they struck the cow, toppled over one by one, and two people (were) killed."

In later years, Koch prospered on his farm in the Logtown area and he tried to make his garden a miniature Denmark. Homesick Danes found refuge there, and a few of them found brides as well, for Koch who married the former Annette Netto of Pearlington was father to three sons and four daughters.

Gulf Coast residents who have a hankering for a good old fashioned state fair will find all the sights and smells familiar to them during the 10 days of the Gulf Coast State Fair July 22-Aug. 1 at Jones Park on U.S. 90 in Gulfport.

The fair is being organized by the staff and workers for the Crippled Children's Foundation of Kln, Miss. with proceeds from the fair going toward purchase of added equipment and operating facilities.

Organizers have lined up country music entertainers Tanya Tucker, Joni Lee, O.B. McClinton, and Del Reeves who will present two shows each day Friday night, July 23 and Saturday, July 24 through the cooperation of radio station WVMI.

Mrs. Ann Riess, chairman of the fair committee, said plans were also being finalized for an appearance Saturday July 31 by the well known Hudson Brothers group.

Besides the live musical entertainment the fair plans to offer judgments in the areas of livestock, handicraft and homemaking skills as well as prizes for the largest entry in 23 categories of fruits and vegetables.

Gulf Coast residents are encouraged to enter their favorite homemade jam or their livestock, etc. to be judged by experts in each field, Mrs. Riess said.

Special events planned for the 10 days of the fair include sky diving, baby judging, a CB jamboree, J&M's Educated animals, a watermelon seed spitting contest, a midway, merchant displays, square dancing and horse show by the South Mississippi Horse Show Association Aug. 1st.

Only one admission fee will be charged at the fair gates, Mrs. Riess said. All entertainment events will be free.

MC Clinton, a native Mississippian who records on the Mercury Records label, will headline two shows Friday, July 23. Appearing with MC Clinton, will be 15-year-old Jonie Lee whose biggest records include

"Don't Cry Jonie" which she recorded with father Conway Twitty and her current "Angel on my shoulder".

Saturday's two shows will feature country super star Tanya Tucker and recording artist Del Reeves.

Miss Tucker's first hit "Delta Dawn" was recorded when she was 13-years-old. Now 17, the artist has consistently been in the top 10 on the charts. Other hit recordings have been "What's Your Mama's Name," "Would You Lay With Me (in a field of stone)," "The Jamestown Ferry," and her current hit "You've Got Me To Hold Onto."

Del Reeves past hits include "Goodtime Charley's Got the Blues," "Girl On The Billboard," "Looking At The World Through A Windshield," and "Philadelphia Fillees."

Radio Station WQID is working on the appearance by the Hudson Brothers for Saturday, July 31st.

The fair office in Gulfport, located at U.S. 90 and U.S. 49 will have advance fair admission tickets for sale beginning July 1.

Persons may register for any of the judging events at the fair by telephoning Mrs. Riess at 255-1123.

Bright Horizon program to close bicentennial

The Hancock County, Bay-Waveland Bicentennial Committee will sponsor a "Bright Horizon" program

Sept. 5, in Tiger Stadium, closing out their year of formal celebration activities. John McKenna, committee chairman, said this week the event is designed to bring greater unity among the people of this area; provide inspiration through a program of patriotic and religious music; and recognize God's guidance and goodness through a combined, all faiths religious experience.

Auxiliarists attend DAV convention

Auxiliarists attending the state Disabled American Veterans (DAV) convention at the Sheraton Biloxi last weekend elected Mrs. Janell Necaise president.

Auxiliarists attending from Post 50 in Bay St. Louis included Mrs. Tuleto Oliver, commander of the Bay St. Louis post; Mrs. June Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Hood, Mrs. Annabell Pucheu, and past state commanders Mrs. Ester Oschmann and Mrs. Genevieve Cole.

Bay St. Louis will serve as overall chairman of the event and has joined with the Hancock County Historical Association in urging all church and civic groups to compile a brief history of their organization, its aims and community achievements. Carver said these papers will be put into bank-donated safety deposit boxes to be opened on the nation's tricentennial in the year 2076.

In making the formal announcement, McKenna said the program will last about an hour and will bring together representatives of all churches, organizations, schools, and the like.

Determined to make his committee's final activity one to be remembered, the chairman has invited participation by the entire county. "Please join in the planning and execution of this important bicentennial project," he yesterday invited Hancock County at large.

Singer Eddie Hodges to lead Pearlington church homecoming

Eddie Hodges, former movie and television personality and currently counselor at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, will be guest speaker of homecoming services July 18 at Pearlington United Methodist Church.

Activities begin with a 10:30 a.m. worship service at which Hodges will speak, followed by a carry-in dinner and a 2 p.m. musical concert featuring Hodges, Mrs. Sharon Wilcox of Clermont Harbor and Harold Miller, church songleader.

In addition to his counseling profession, Hodges is a frequent speaker at Christian gatherings. Mrs. Wilcox, wife of Carl Wilcox, is a student at Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Oklahoma and has sung with the ORU singers in television specials. Miller's accomplishments include that of soloist on a sacred music record album.

The public is invited to attend.

Library announces book sale

A perpetual book sale will take place during regular library hours throughout the rest of July and all during the month of August at the City-County Library, according to Prima Wusnak, director, Hancock County Library System.

To include works of both fiction and non-fiction, the sale will take place in the main reading room.

"We are including several seldom circulated or multi-copied books in this offering," Ms. Wusnak said.

Mrs. Bordages receives afghan

Mrs. John Bordages was recipient of a bicentennial afghan handmade by the Clermont Handcrafters Club.

Accepting the afghan for Mrs. Bordages were her daughter-in-law and grandchildren, Mrs. Harold Bordages, Mary Kay and Shelley Marie.

Proceeds from the Handcrafters afghan project will be presented to the Crippled Children's Foundation later this year.

Borrowed Energy

With our energy supplies decreasing increasingly, it will probably be good news to many that scientists have found a way to get some fuels to do double work.

AMERICAN SCIENTISTS have found ways to derive energy from unusual sources these days.

First, things like petroleum, wood fibers and various chemicals are used to create useful packaging for protecting the food we eat and other things we need.

Then, after the material is no longer needed as packaging, it is discarded and set to its second task: creating energy.

Communities of all sizes are setting up resource recovery systems all over the country. These systems turn packages back into fuel.

They work by isolating recoverable and recyclable materials in refuse and then using the rest—about 50 percent, including the packaging material—as a boiler fuel to generate electric power.

Therefore, much of the fuel used to create packaging is not lost as an energy source. Instead, it's merely borrowed and then used to create energy, which might make people say: more power to it!

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Randolph had as guests last week their granddaughters Charlene Bailey of Mobile, Ala., and Susan Poole, Long Beach, and their nephew, Jimmy Randolph of Newport News, Va.

Spending a while with them are their grandchildren Terry and Lori Randolph of Jackson.

Lloyd Cuevas of Norcross, Ga., is visiting this week with his mother Mrs. Monroe Cuevas. They were joined for a weekend visit by her daughter Rose Marie of Metairie, La.

Mr. and Mrs. James Domingue and children of Carencro, La., are spending this week with her mother Mrs. Ethel Garcia.

Guests for the weekend were the Domingue's daughter Mrs. Kathy Duhon and daughter Kindra Lynn.

Duson, La., and their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Domingue and son Joshua of Arnaudville, La., and Mrs. Garcia's son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Garcia and children Kirt and Linette, New Orleans.

Mrs. Lamar Bassett of Pascagoula, has returned home after a week's visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Capdepon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Capdepon Jr. of Mississippi City spent Sunday with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bourg and daughter Julie of Thibodaux, La., were weekend guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Kergosen.

Mrs. Cora Harmon of Corpus Christi, Tex., has returned home after spending several days with Mrs. A.G. Favre and family.

Miss Uddell Favre and niece Miss Mary Ann Scianna of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Cora Harmon of Corpus Christi, Tex., returned Thursday from a six-week tour of Europe as guests of her brother and sister-in-law Maj. and Mrs. Byron P. Favre and daughter Michelle of Mildenhall, England.

They visited in Luxembourg, Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, Holland and Austria. While in Portsmouth, England, Miss Favre was the guest of Mrs. Eileen Wardale with whom she had corresponded for 30 years and met for the first time on the visit. In Riegelsberg, Germany, they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Vogel and family and while in Rome they attended an audience held by Pope Paul VI.

POISON PREVENTION CHECKLIST AT HOME

Approximately 500,000 children will be victims of accidental poisoning this year. So take these precautionary steps to protect your home and your family.

* Keep household products and medicines out of your children's reach, preferably in a locked cabinet. And, where possible, replace them with products such as Drain Power—the drain opener that works with pressure instead of hazardous lyes and acids.

* Look for safety packaging when buying household substances and medicines.

* Keep all medicines and cleaning products in their original containers.

* Don't leave these products in places accessible to your children—even for a few minutes while you answer the phone.

* Finally, clean out your cabinets and closets periodically and throw out old medicines, paint and other household chemicals.

Reception honors hospital retirees

A reception at Memorial Hospital at Gulfport Marked the retirement of Dr. Bedford F. Floyd and Dr. William F. McDonnell and the end of 57 years on the medical staff.

Present at the reception was Mrs. George Heitzmann, 93 years young, and Dr. Floyd's oldest patient.

Dr. Floyd joined the hospital staff in 1916, first as a courtesy member while he practiced in Bay St. Louis. He moved to Gulfport in 1948 and became a full member of the staff.

He received his medical degree from the University of Tennessee Medical School and interned at John Gaston Hospital. He completed his residency at Gallinger Municipal Hospital in Washington, D.C. and held a fellowship at Cleveland Clinic Foundation. He then held a teaching appointment in the surgical department at the University of Tennessee.

He came to the Gulf Coast after serving a period in the Naval Air Force as flight surgeon.

Dr. Floyd has been certified by the American Board of Surgeons since 1955. He is a Fellow in the Southeastern Surgical Congress, a member of Coast Counties Medical Society, Mississippi State Medical Association, and the American Medical Association.

Dr. McDonnell became a member of the hospital staff in 1949 when he opened an office in Gulfport for the practice of pediatrics. He received his medical degree from the University of Tennessee. Following an internship at John Gaston Hospital, he did his residency at Children's Hospital in Chattanooga and Southern Baptist Hospital in New Orleans.

He came to the Gulf Coast after serving in the Air Force.

Dr. McDonnell is a member of the Coast Counties Medical Society, the Southern Medical Association, Mississippi Pediatric Society and the American Medical Association.

Farewell wish

Mrs. George Heitzmann wishes her physician Dr. Bedford Floyd best wishes on his retirement from Memorial Hospital.

County Library Board formulates policies

The Hancock County Public Library Board of Trustees issues the following policies which will be in effect for the HANCOCK COUNTY BOOK-MOBILE and the new facilities for the CITY-COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY and the WAVELAND BRANCH LIBRARY.

SERVICE POLICIES of the HANCOCK COUNTY LIBRARY SYSTEM

The following basic policies which can be revised and to which others shall be added from time to time, shall govern the service of the HANCOCK COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY SYSTEM consisting of the CITY-COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY, WAVELAND BRANCH LIBRARY, and the HANCOCK COUNTY BOOK-MOBILE.

Books, reading materials, audio-visual materials and equipment and general public library services shall be made available to the residents of Hancock County through a print and non-print collection and general library facilities located in the two library buildings and through book-mobile service.

Administrative activities and technical processes for the entire library system shall be carried on in the headquarters office at the CITY-COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY, Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

All materials of the total library system shall be available to all users of the library through any service outlet of the library.

Whenever materials requested by the users of the library system are not available through the resources of the local library, requests shall be transferred immediately to headquarters: if they are not available there, efforts shall be made to secure them through the reference services of the Mississippi Library Commission and other interlibrary loan facilities available to the libraries of the state.

All persons borrowing materials from the library system shall register at one of the library units in the county. His registration shall then be honored at any other unit in the system as long as he has no overdue or lost library materials. The borrower's card should be considered as important as a credit card. The card must be presented when checking out books. Any book checked out on the card is the responsibility of the person who owns the card. The patron is responsible for reporting a lost or stolen card immediately or he will be responsible for any books checked out on it. There will be a three day waiting period and a charge of fifty cents to make a new card.

When a person registers for a borrower's card, library records will be checked. If it is determined that the person has overdue library materials, he will not be issued a card until restitution is made. The library has the right to revoke the use of a library borrower's card if it is determined that a person has abused the regulations concerning use of the card.

Proper care and handling of all library materials shall be expected of all borrowers and they shall also be responsible for the return of all materials borrowed, or for the payment thereof in case of loss or damage. Payment will be made in the amount that it would cost to replace the material at present prices. Parents shall be held responsible for damages and losses incurred by minors.

LOAN POLICIES

The loan policies of the county system are as follows:

1. Material owned by the Hancock County Library System may be checked out for at least two weeks with one renewal if no one is waiting for the material. Renewal can be made by phone before the material becomes overdue.

2. Reserve books are checked out for two weeks with one renewal. University and other public library books on interlibrary loan are checked out for a period to allow the books to be returned on time.

3. Borrowing books from the Mississippi Library Commission is a free service to the patrons of the library system. However, if a patron wishes to borrow materials from a University or out-of-state library, he must pay the postage and insurance to return the material.

4. Mississippi Library Commission - books are checked out for two weeks.

5. Certain materials may in the judgement of the librarian be designated for use only in the library or designated to be returned in a shorter or even longer period of time in order to give better library service.

6. Periodicals, reference materials, microfilm, filmstrips and other materials designated as non-circulating shall be used only in the library in order to give better library service to all patrons.

7. Gift books shall be handled in accordance with the Gift Policy adopted by the Board of Trustees.

8. Patrons borrowing films through the library must pay the return postage and insurance.

9. Reservations shall be taken for books not at the time a patron asks for them. Such books will be held for three days after the patron is notified that it is in.

10. Library patrons are encouraged to call the library by telephone for book inquiries, renewal requests, and spot reference questions in an attempt to give more prompt and convenient service to the public.

11. When a patron keeps material for longer than he has contracted, he is denying someone else the use of that material. Any patron who has overdue material will be telephoned. Calls are begun after three days overdue. A standard procedure is used when calling each patron.

FINES

Fines for past due books at all libraries shall be assessed the borrower in the following amounts: five cents a day - adult library materials, three cents a day - children's library materials, five cents a day - lost or damaged date due cards.

These fines only apply to days on which the library is open, and the maximum fine collected on any book is $1. Money collected for fines is to be deposited in the treasury of the Hancock County Library System. Money collected for lost or damaged books shall be sent to headquarters along with pertinent information so the replacements can be ordered.

GIFT POLICY

The Board of Trustees of the Hancock County Library System has adopted the following policy regarding gifts of money and materials to the library.

The Board of Trustees welcomes gifts of money and materials. The support given the library from public funds is necessarily limited and the addition of contributions could do much to raise the standards and to improve the service of the library.

The Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any gifts.

Gifts of money are greatly appreciated for they allow the staff to purchase specifically needed materials.

The Board is glad to have gifts of reading materials of value to the library system. Such gifts must fit into the overall program of the library; if they are to be of maximum value to the library and bring satisfaction to the donor that the best possible use has been made of his gift.

Gifts will be accepted with these understandings:

They must become the property of the library and the Board must be entitled to whatever disposition of them which will fit into the library's service pattern.

Gifts of books must fit into the Library's standards of book selection as to usability, content and physical condition.

No gifts can be accepted with any specific restrictions, such as shelving in specific areas or restricted to the use of certain people.

Gifts may be designated for certain units on these conditions:

They must be sent to headquarters for sorting, classifying and processing to secure uniformity of form, accuracy of records, and analysis of the book collections.

It is understood that any book in any library throughout the system, regardless of source or ownership may be used for special request by any unit of the system.

GIFT PLATES indicating the donor's name will be put in any gift volume where the donor so desires.

GIFT PLAQUES on gifts other than books should be of an appropriate size but should not exceed 5" x 7".

Gifts of money to purchase memorial volumes is especially welcomed for the library. It is suggested that persons desiring to memorialize their loved ones in this way, consult with the library staff for suggestions and procedures.

As the primary function of the library is to provide informational and educational materials for public use, donations such as valuable artifacts will be discouraged until such time as museum facilities can be provided. The library is a public institution and as such receives the mainstay of its support from public funds. This does not mean that more money is not needed to approximate standards for public library service and the Board welcomes any contributions from individuals or organizations provided the use of which the donor designates the money fits into the general operational policies of the library. It is obvious that a purely public institution could not accept gifts that would be contrary to the services philosophy of the institution or contrary to the law under which it operates.

It is equally obvious that gifts to public libraries can be of permanent and lasting value to a community and the Board covets the opportunity to discuss gifts with any individual or organization.

MEETING ROOM POLICIES

The meeting room in the CITY-COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY is available for use by civic, educational and cultural groups for a single meeting. The provisions of such accommodations is an additional service rendered to the public under conditions set by the HANCOCK COUNTY LIBRARY BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

Meeting rooms in public library buildings are provided primarily for library-related activities such as story hours, film programs, discussion groups, and other activities sponsored or co-sponsored by the library or Friends of the Library which are open to the public and are related to the further use of the library's materials. These activities must receive priority in the use of the meeting room. Regular library service must take precedence over all other activities and the use of the meeting room must not interfere with the operation of the library.

Permission to use the meeting room will NOT be granted for: discussion of controversial issues unless the program provides for the presentation of both sides and the discussion assumes the nature of an open forum with the presentation of all viewpoints; sectarian religious meetings; partisan political meetings; meetings for purely social purposes or groups.

Due to the fact that the Library's operating budget only covers a regular 43 hour week, there will be a $10 fee for the additional janitorial and utility expenses incurred by the organization meeting in the Library's facilities.

Reservations will be made by a responsible member of the organization who will see that all regulations are followed.

Application for each meeting must be approved by the Board of Trustees through the Director for any organization having regularly recurring meetings except the Friends of the Library.

Applications for the use of a meeting room must be made on the Library's request form at least seven days and no more than 10 days prior to the meeting date. In the case of exceptional circumstances, exceptions can be made at the discretion of the Director.

Application must be made at the Circulation Desk. Room will be assigned in the order in which requests are received.

The Library Board of Trustees reserves the right to review, accept, or reject any or all applications.

No fee will be charged for the use of the meeting room when the program is presented by the library or when the program is cosponsored by the Friends of the Library.

No admission charge may be made for any program held in the library. No sales or other money transactions of any kind may be made, nor may the room be used for any commercial purpose. The exception is for the Friends of the Library.

Memberships and payment of dues may not be solicited in the library building except by the Friends of the Library.

The fact that a group is permitted to meet in the library does not in any way constitute an endorsement of the group's policies or beliefs.

Neither the name nor address of the library may be used as the official address or headquarters for an organization.

No refreshments may be served other than coffee, tea, or cold drinks served in disposable containers, and cookies or sandwiches prepared away from the library. All supplies must be provided by the group using them.

Refuse must be removed from the library and deposited in outside waste receptacles.

The Library is not responsible for equipment, supplies, material, or other items owned by a group or individuals and used in the library; and such materials must be removed from the library at the end of the meeting for which they are used.

Organizations holding meetings assume financial responsibility for any damage to room and contents.

Satisfactory arrangements must be made with the Library Director for operation of the Library's audio-visual equipment.

No smoking is allowed.

The Library retains the right to cancel a reservation granted an outside group for a library room, but only in order to use the room for library purposes. If such a reservation is cancelled, at least 24 hours notice will be given.

The Library must be left in a neat and orderly condition. If not, notice will be given to the group that a second offense will result in its being denied further use of library rooms. No cooking is allowed in any library room by any group.

Group activities involving more than normal wear and tear on the room will not be permitted.

It is understood that inquiries concerning the meeting in question may be referred to the person signing the agreement.

Days meeting room is available Monday through Sunday.

Hours meeting room is available for a maximum of three hours for any one event.

Fees charged: $10 per event to be paid in advance.

Attendance limited to 60 maximum.

SEA COAST ECHO - BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., THURSDAY JULY 15, 1976 SECTION C1

Coast uses errors as Legion loses opener

Coast Electric used six opposition errors to score four of their five runs to come from behind and edge American Legion 5-4 Monday in game one of the three game series for the overall league title.

Legion had six hits to four for Coast, but lost the game on errors.

Dwayne Lafontaine picked up the win, striking out seven in going the distance. Donnie Strong, Brett Barrett, Mike Richardson and Scott Cox all singled for Coast.

Kerry Geroux took the loss for Legion, fanning seven but getting no support in going the distance. Tony Raboteau had two hits, while Geroux, Melvin Barnes, Eric Labat and David Strong added singles.

Should Legion even the series Wednesday in the second game, the third and deciding game will be played Friday at 6 p.m.

Coast, Rotary end seasons with wins

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO Coast Electric led by pitcher Scott Cox used 11 hits and sparking defense to defeat American Legion 6-3 Saturday in Babe Ruth action.

Cox (4-0) fanned eight and led the offense with three hits as his team earned the second half championship and the right to face American Legion in the best of three game series for the overall league title. Mike Richardson, Dwayne Lafontaine, and Woody Nease all contributed two hits to the cause as Coast ended the regular season at 11-4. Steve Seymour was tagged with the loss, going three innings before giving way to David Strong. Seymour and Eric Labat singled for Legion as they finished 11-5.

In the opener, Rotary took advantage of 24 free passes and Gene Tarzetti checked Chasetz' construction as far hits as they added their 2-0 season on a winning note with a 20-3 victory.

Perry Cabell and Andy Ruhr had two hits apiece while Tarzetti and Blaine Thomas scored four times each to lead the offense.

David Murtagh was charged with the loss. Donald Carver and David Smith added singles to the cause as Chasetz ended a 4-12 season.

Crews make their boats ship shape after completing the final races Sunday in the Capdevielle series held at Bay Yacht Club.

LaFontaine pitches Coast one step closer to playoffs

Special to the Echo
Pitcher Dwayne LaFontaine's single in the last of the seventh sent Woody Necaise home with the winning run to bring Coast Electric one step closer to the second-half championship by defeating Dixie Realty 6-5 Thursday in action at Tiger Field.

LaFontaine went the distance, fanning eight in recording his third victory against three losses. An earlier hit by LaFontaine in the fifth brought in two runs to tie the score.

Kevin McCaleb was tagged with the loss for Dixie, going the distance in dropping his second game of the season. Bruce Morreale and Ricky Manieri contributed RBI singles to the attack as Dixie Realty finished its season at 6-10. Coast needs only to defeat Legion Saturday to clinch a spot in the playoffs.

In the second game, Legion scrambled for three runs in the last inning, the winning run scoring on Tony Rabateau's single, as they edged Rotary 7-6. Kerry Geroux was the starter and winner, allowing six hits as he completed his seventh game of the season. He also led his course with two hits, the second one tying the score, setting the stage for Rabateau's hit. Blaine Thomas (2-3) was the losing pitcher, yielding in going the distance for Rotary. Perre Cabell led the offense with two hits while batting-leader Gene Tarzetti had a 1-for-2 day in raising his average to .400.

Red Roosters topple Jolly Green Giants 11-10

The "T" Ball program sponsored by the Parks and Playgrounds witnessed an upset in the game played July 7 at McDonald Park.

The Red Roosters, coached by Chuck Gennin, took a win over the Jolly Green Giants who are coached by Tim Favre.

The Roosters were behind by one point in the first inning of play, but they caught up in the second inning of the game and tied the score with 8 runs for each team at the end of the second inning. The Roosters won the game in the third inning by a close margin of 11-10.

The Roosters are now 1-2 in their standings and the Giants are 1-1.

The next "T" Ball game was held July 9 with the Yellow Birds, coached by Jeffrey Reed, taking on the Orange Men, coached by Mike Favre. That game began at 3:15 p.m.

Monday's "T" Ball action will see the Jolly Green Giants taking on the Orange Men at 3:15 p.m. at McDonald Park.

Red Foxes up record

Thursday's Parks and Playgrounds Girls Softball action saw the Red Foxes coached by Chuck Gennin take another win to up their standings 2-1.

The Foxes beat the Demons coached by Jeffrey Reed 8-5 after six innings of play at McDonald Field.

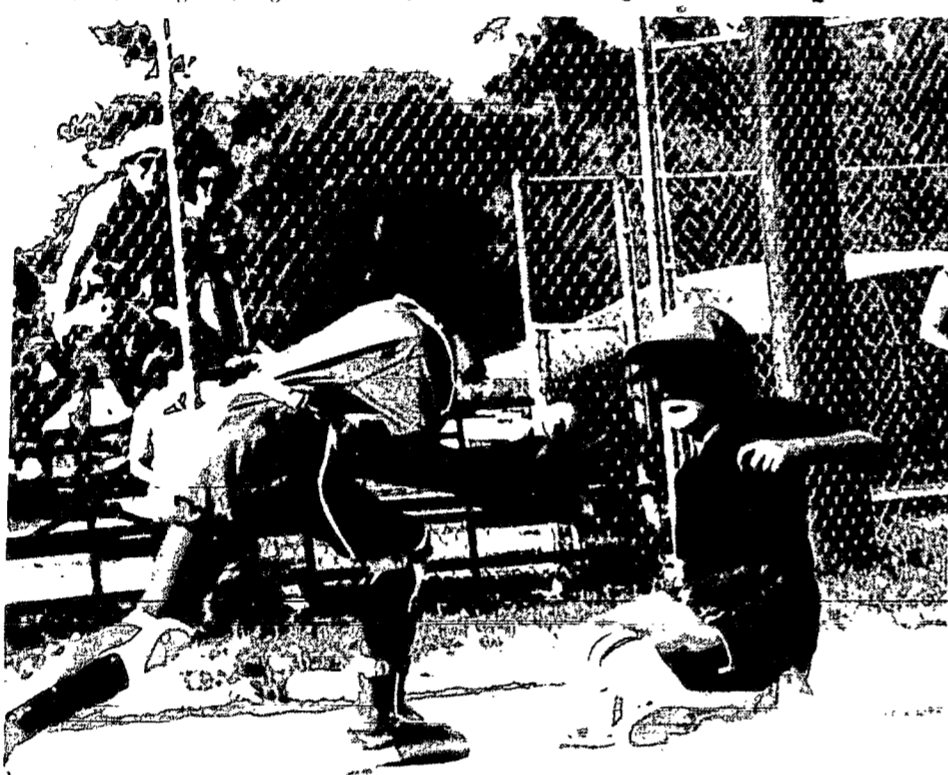

Patsy Bourgeois and Velvet Waltman led the Foxes with two runs each.

Beverly Benoit had two runs for the Demons.

Even though Christine Bertrand had a home run in the top of the sixth inning and Beverly Benoit had two triples the Demons still lost the game to the Foxes.

The Angels took on the Mooners at McDonald Park Thursday evening. After seven innings of play the Angels beat the Mooners 12-0. Top scorers for the Angels with two runs each Dana Favre, Christi Favre, and Tanya Mitchell.

The Angels will take on the Foxes Tuesday, July 13 at 3:15 p.m. at McDonald Field.

FEET FIRST - Albert Laneux clutches the ball as David Landson slides into base on a close play in boys' minor league play last week.

Blue Jays beat Green Brewers

In Boys Minor League action last Friday, the Blue Jays handed the Green Brewers their second loss of the season 15-8.

Dale Crays and Rod Morris took care of the mound duties for the winners.

Matt Fairconnetue and Rusty Galloway scored twice for coach Tim Favre's undefeated Blue Jays, while Albert Laneux, Gerald Christmas, and Mike Suzeneaux scored twice for the Brewers.

This Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. the Knights play the Brewers at McDonald Park.

Bicycle rodeo set for White Cypress

A bicycle rodeo has been scheduled for 1 p.m. Sunday, July 25 at the new White Cypress, Infant of Prague Church grounds.

Two high point overall trophies will be awarded by the sponsors, the Holy Family Altar Society. Ribbons will be presented the top three contestants in each event.

The grounds are located off State Highway 603, about a quarter mile west and approximately one mile north of the present church site. A directional sign is posted at the intersection, according to event organizers.

Mainly for entertainment, any proceeds realized will be utilized by the society for the purchase of church furnishings.

Competition will be held for youngsters 12 and under and 13 and over, and will include a tricycle class. Distinction will be made between 16-inch wheels and regular sizes. Events will include: 20, 35, and 50 yard dashes, pole bending, flag, and bell racing. Further information is available from Gay Davis at 255-7679, or Roxie Cole, 255-7253.

According to Shelly Blunt, club president, this is the first show of the season for the club and its members plan to make it the best. "We've scheduled four halter classes, 14 performance classes and 20 timed

Woolmarket riding club to host horse show

The Woolmarket Riding Club will sponsor a horse show July 17 at the Lyman arena beginning at 4 p.m. Wayne Stinson, Meridian, will be the judge.

The show has been approved by the Association," Blunt added, "with all points earned counting toward qualifying for the State finals in October." Proceeds from the show will

Buccaneer Crew Notes

By DIDDY QUINLAN
This weekend wasn't as crowded at Buccaneer Park as usual. Many campers were probably resting from a long 4th weekend. However, the crowd that did come was active and congenial.

Our weekly story hour resumed after a brief intermission during the relocation of our library. June Dearman was once again on hand to entertain the children with stories from the library. An appropriate movie on camping and scouting was reviewed by an enthusiastic crowd Friday night. This film was awarded second place.

Saturday our activities included a field day on the beach where everyone joined in the sack races, relay races and games. The beautiful weather made this activity an enjoyable experience using our natural resources. Later that night our box hockey tournament was won by 13-year-old Jeff Schumann from Bixby, Okla. Fourteen-year-old Myrthe North of Bay St. Louis was awarded second place.

Activities this week consist of an egg carton craft session, a pot luck supper, and a bike race. Ms. Norine Barnes of the Hancock County Extension Service will present an excellent slide show on 200 years of fashion. This will be shown at 1:30 p.m. on Friday, July 16 in the recreation hall.

On Saturday several local artisans will put their wares on display from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Igus, Ltd., the Closet Shoppe, Carl Baldenhoffer, Hamilton Guenard, Raymond Talbot and Ms. Doris Davis are among those scheduled to participate. With these varied artists it promises to be an interesting show.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Dec) Elliott

Not too many fish were caught over the past weekend, either fresh or salt water. The reason, unexplainable, except probably the water was not too good or the tides were off. Another reason could be there have been bright moonlight nights and fresh water fish feed at night and won't feed during the day time.

A few speckled trout were caught as usual out in the marsh as well as flounders. Croakers seem to be caught most every where. They bite when other fish won't. Flounders and soft crabs are still being caught at night here and there, but not too many to brag about.

Again this weekend plenty of people were camping up Pearl River at Logtown, Pearlinton, etc.

David DeBlanc and Melford Smith were after them again, I mean fish. They are two of our young fishermen and know where and how to get 'em. Were trying green trout.

Had a report from Harry Roman, Louis DeCell and Hoke Ogden. They caught some nice speckles at Pass Marlin Light last weekend. Hoke has purchased a new boat, the "Mineola" which he is going to share with his friends. Hoke does both fresh and salt water fishing. Been doing it a long time. Hoke fished with Harry DePonte, one of the best fly fishermen in nine counties. I paddled Harry years ago.

Charley Prest, a salt water fisherman supreme, made a trip to Empire and brought home two ice boxes of red fish, all sizes. They were hitting like nobody's business. His son-in-law has a fishing camp near Empire. Mrs. Prest does some fishing, too.

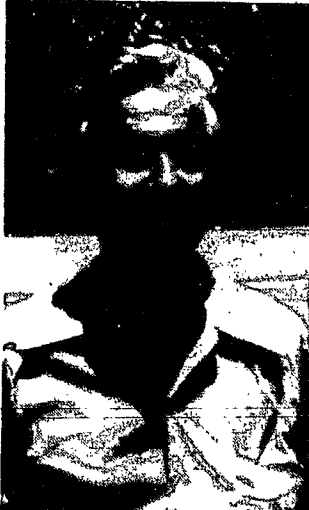

Met Ulysses Cuevas. Said he hasn't done much fishing lately because his boat is out of commission. Snuck out last week however and caught a few speckles in the big Cut Off. He is another of our old-time fishermen.

Had my son, Luke and Sue with his son, Luke Jr., Evelyn and their two children, Pat Duff for the weekend. The men folks, with Ray Garner went fishing; didn't do too hot, only caught a few bass. Luke, Pat and Luke Jr. went soft crabs and floundering. The catch, one flounder and about eight soft crabs. Something has to be wrong.

John Lipscomb and his wife, Cathy, from Hattiesburg went fishing with us, Saturday. John has a bass boat and they do both fly fishing and casting. Catch their share of bass and perch.

Another type of fishing is catching fresh water catfish out of a pond or small lake. Still fishing is the best using earth worms or dead shrimp. Catfish are excellent eating when prepared right. To clean 'em take a pair of electrician pliers, cut off the fins, cut the skin down the back and along the belly, take a pair of pliers and remove the skin. Fry. That is all there is to it. Eating result, excellent.

Let's go back. Rosemary Blaize has been in the newspaper business a long time. Worked with her for 14 years. She is still with the Echo. A valued employee.

I remember when Henry Lang and John Damborino caught their first soft crab's and flounders. When Cotton Blaize started soft crabbing. When Eddie Blaize was at his best, soft crabbing and floundering. When fishing along the old railroad bridge was out of this world. When we camped for a week with the Boy Scouts. When "Alden Mauffray" used his first casting rod. When John Seafide, Sr. started fly fishing. I paddled him. When Bay St. Louis only had gravel roads. When Jourdan River was the best fishing spot this side of Heaven. Pearl River was too far to go. A Model T Ford took a long time to get there. After 81 years it is still good to remember. Fishing in this neck of the woods is still good. Try it, you will like it.
